LOVE

Several men I've known and loved
With virtues not a few
Now, on sober introspection
It narrows down to two.
One is a brawny athlete
Towering six feet tall,
Counterpart of Atlas—
Small wonder I should fall.
The other is an older man,
Less handsome it is true,
But with an understanding heart
He weaves love's magic too.
I am in love with both of them,
Yet I spoil the gossip's fun
Because one is my husband
The other is my son.

* * *

Housewife's Lament

Those End-Of-The-Month Sales

Don't interest me any,

Though the bargains they offer

Save many a penny..

I never go near them--

The reason's not funny:

There's just too much month left

At the end of my money!

AGE

Age is an accomplishment with perhaps some limitations.
But "wisdom" comes with age we know and a wise one takes it a little slow.

Because I am old I am not senile and expect to be here quite a while
To enjoy the things I have learned to do,
Who knows- I may even try something new.

I know I will not learn how to ski
That wouldn't be wise at all for me.
I won't sit in the sun to get a tan,
I'll leave that to the younger clan.

But

I will learn to think before I speak
I will not criticise the weak
And no resentment will I bear
But understanding try to share.

A humble thought can come with age.
It does not cringe- it knows no rage.
It isn't weak- in fact it's strong.
An ageless thought, it can't be wrong.

MY MOTHER'S HANDS

My mother's hands were never still,
She smoothed our brows when we were ill,
Brought heated bricks for ache and chill;

Soft, faithful hands.

Made thimble biscuits for a tea ..
Oh, cherished, vivid memory --
The doughnut holes she fried for me!

Quick, skillful hands.

She pinked our flannel undershirts;
Salved our bumps and bound our hurts;
And made our favorite desserts.

Kind, willing hands.

Kept filled the large stone cookie crack,
Starched and pressed each ruffled frock,
Restored an almost hopeless sock;

Dear, clever hands.

Busy fingers, long and white,
Loving tasks from morn 'til night,
Knitting by a mellow light:

Untiring hands.

And where celestial families sing,
She smooths an angel's ruffled wing,
Or mends a harpist's broken string;
My Mother's hands could not be still.

God love her!

GENERAL FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS
1734 N Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20036

The 1966-67 season of the Woman's Club of Arcadia, under the leadership of Mrs. William W. Greenway, is fast drawing to a close but it will be long remembered for the vast accomplishments of its entire membership.

Because this is a Federated Club its many faceted program is one that originates at the General Federation level which has its headquarters in Washington D.C. Each Club is encouraged to pursue those programs of philanthropy and culture which best meet the needs of its own community as well as those in which the members have a special interest elsewhere in the world.

Each club is a part of a district which in turn makes up a State Federated Woman's Club Organization. The Federated Clubs from each state, together with those which have combined to form separate organizations in many foreign countries make up the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Each District and State or Country holds its own annual convention each year. There is also an annual General Convention which will be held right here in California this year at the San Francisco Hilton. The various clubs departments and individuals receive recognition for their effort exerted during the preceding year. Awards are given to them on a competitive basis.

This year Mrs. Douglas Schinke won, for the Woman's Club of Arcadia, a First Place Award for her report on Art Achievement at the California State Convention held at the El Cortez Hotel in San Diego. This award was a lovely oil painting by H. Bullen. Mrs. Schinke also won a First Place Award as Art Chairman at the Verdugo District Convention at the Statler Hilton in Los Angeles.

Among the many other awards received at the District Convention was a Federation Extension Trophy. This award is a result of the combined effort of all the members in the Woman's Club of Arcadia. It was given for extending the scope of endeavor in furthering the Federation goals, which in turn are designed to lend a helping hand and show our love for mankind everywhere. Mrs. Richard Nestler received a Federation Charm for her part in this effort. She also received a First Place Award as Federation Secretary and a Second place Award for her work as Dean of Chairmen.

Mrs. William Greenway won First Place Awards for her President's Reports, Procedure Books, Leadership Development, Scholarship and Safety Reports and a Second Place Award in Community Service as well as a District One Hundred Percent Attendance Pin.

President's Report, Verdugo District Convention, April 21, 1967

The Woman's Club of Arcadia has tried to show its love for mankind through Community Service.

We provided Cookie Boxes, Easter Baskets, Christmas Corsages, Cake and Ice Cream, flowers, dish gardens, musical programs, monthly magazines, and monthly tray favors to the various Convalescent Homes in our community and also invited single elderly men and women, living alone to luncheon and a garden tour.

Demonstrated the adaption of everyday food for entertaining to young people.

Provided a Baby Sitting Clinic for our Junior High School Students.

Organized an art contest in which all of our elementary schools participated, as well as our High School students and Clubwomen.

Invited our Police Chief to speak on "What Every Woman Should Know About Safety" and promoted the publishing of the contents of this talk in our local papers.

We are remodeling our clubhouse, which is used by many organizations and individuals in our community, so it will comply with the state fire safety standards.

Our members were acquainted with the "Freedom Share U.S. Savings Notes, as well as the value of Savings Bonds, as a personal investment in our Country's future.

We advised our members of the addresses of Fallout shelters so that they could help themselves and others in case of disaster.

We placed, "Lock Your Car" posters in Arcadia Markets and Drug stores and "Don't Be Careless, You Might Be Car Less" flyers in unlocked cars in the city.

All organizations represented at the Coordinating Council were asked to donate material which was made into apron dresses and blankets for children who are now in Pacific State hospital.

We held a "Meet the Author Luncheon" to increase interest in literature in our Community.

All members of the Clergy in Arcadia and their wives were invited to a Clergy Day Luncheon and our Civic Leaders to a Civic Day Luncheon.

We donated money to the San Gabriel Valley Training Center, Thrift Shop, Heart Research, Retarded Children's Association, City of Hope, Armed Services and Veterans, Kidney Foundation, City Rose Float, LEAN and various Scholarships and Camperships for a total of over $800.00.

One of our members even donated her husband; that is, she donated her husband's professional services for the beautification of the median strips of our city streets.

From the desk of the President:

As the year comes to a close, I would like to thank all of you for the honor of being your President for this past year.

It has been truly a rewarding year, especially because of the privilege of working with such an outstanding Board. It has never been my pleasure to work with a finer group of women. Each member was creative in her thinking and freely expressed her opinion. The end result was a harmonious composite of ideas emanating from intelligent and industrious clubwomen.

My grateful thanks go out to those dedicated women who prepared our delicious luncheons, also everyone who most generously contributed in so many ways to the financial needs of the club.

A thank you goes also to the women who expressed their opinions during our club meetings and those who so graciously accepted decisions made by the majority when it differed from their own preference. Opinions and ideas of many have led to our various past accomplishments.

Last, but perhaps most important from a personal viewpoint, I would like to thank those who so unselfishly accepted leadership, chairmanships and other offices or any other positions of responsibility when asked, and all those who so willingly helped them.

It has been a busy year but it was fun. Let us together take pride in our achievements. Again I say, "Thank you for a Happy Year."

Lu Greenway

CALIFORNIA STATE CONVENTION

1966

First I wish to thank all of you for sending me to the convention. I was very much inspired by the wealth of information that was passed on to everyone present.

For one thing, <sup>I learned how to fix rice.</sup> ~~when~~ Wanda Raimsey, <sup>was introduced at the Television Luncheon as a</sup> nationally known reporter, and Godmother to Phyllis Diller ~~was introduced at the Television Luncheon,~~ and she told us that Phyllis was at least one woman who knew how to fix rice without it sticking together. To do this she says you should, boil one-grain-at-a-time.

More seriously, she told us that while a reporter for the United Nations, the Australian boomerang was spoken of as an article that, when hurled into the air, came back, "more or less". When she consulted her dictionary she found there were two kinds, the large kind that was used for war that didn't come back and the smaller kind that was used for peaceful sporting events which came back. So the boomerang is an article that comes back, "more or less". This <sup>she</sup> applied to our attitude toward peace. Ever since the Sputnik in 1961 we have concentrated on science in our schools but when a soviet probe fails we heave a sigh of relief. Perhaps we should be concentrating on a crash program in philosophy to create thinkers to bring about unity. Are we for peace or are we "more or less"?

She also told of the experts who are trying to find out what causes some people to commit crime. In their research they visited San Quenton. ~~From the answers, Dan Niven, editor, produced the following~~ and asked questions. One of the questions was, "what is it like to be in San Quenton. From the answers, Dan Niven, editor, produced ~~the~~ the following:

When asked, "what is it like to be in San Quenton," what do you say?
It's like describing black to the blind or the color of thunder;
The time of day or a letter.

A pier, long and shallow with sea beneath that you can't see, but you sense the water.

The silent echoes of mistaken misfortunes.

A wind battered Railroad station, where you sit alone waiting for a train. There is the dust of years and cob webs but the train never comes. The rails are rusted and bent.

The wind blows out to sea but where is it going?

remarks with a personal code of ethics adopted many years ago — and a brief prayer. With her permission, we pass along the code of ethics — "I'm going to try to live each day, each hour —"

With all the force and all the loving power

Which the Creator gives me to apply

I'm going to try.

I'm going to try to feel the life in me —

Is but a gift, which in my custody

Must be accounted for to one on high —

"I'm going to try," President Greenway thanked Mrs. Loeffler for the beautiful table decorations. Mrs. Anyta Doyle for the corsages which she prepared for each distinguished guest, and Mrs. Edward G. Frank, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Following the routine business of the meeting, Mrs. Harry J. Schwarz presented the speaker of the day — R. James Mortimer, a representative of the Diners Fugazy Travel San Gabriel, who amazed at confused the ladies with his humorous subject — "Son Misconceptions About the English". Mortimer explained that this appearance was his first appearance for a women organization. He was born in London and moved to Los Angeles in 1961, and is an expert in presenting the eccentricity of the English language and its abuses and incongruities in its language.

Mrs. Bradford Tells Club Women About 'South of Border' Cultures

(Editor's Note—Mrs. Caryl Bradford, who has traveled widely in Mexico, gave the following talk to members of the Women's Club of Arcadia. This is the first of two articles.)

This is going to be an adventure into the past. Perhaps it will give us a better understanding of our nearest neighbors, Mexico, Yucatan and Guatemala. Most of these people are bilingual and if we could speak freely with them it would enrich us both.

Their history goes back to about 500 A.D. and a very high culture was attained before it began to break up from within. And today I'm going to take you to the source, the very beginning of the amazing culture.

As we fly in we see sharp contrasts and great beauty in Mexico. The snow capped mountains, the mile-high magnificence of Mexico City, the gauchos, the flower-draped countryside and the pyramids. The latter are far more beautiful than those in Egypt. These were originally covered with brilliant mosaics and many bas-reliefs of snakes, birds and animals.

The wide tree-lined main avenue of Mexico City leads up to Chapultepec (grass hopper) Hill where the lovely palace was built. These rooms contain many historical murals, paintings and artifacts, including the portraits of Maximilian and Carlotta, who enjoyed a brief and glittering reign.

On the other end of the Avenue the great cathedral was built on the foundations of the Aztec Pyramids where human sacrifices were the order of the day and near by the Gran Mercado overflowed with merchants selling slaves, gold, silver, jewels, skins and flowers.

Picture Yucatan as a great tan slab of sandstone covering a chain of invisible lakes. Sisal, or commonly called century plants, march in ordered rows as far as one can see. This seems to be the only plant that will grow in this thin starved soil. Rope, string, baskets and many things are made of this tough fibre. The sacred cenotes, where human sacrifices were often made, are where the sandstone crust has broken through. A few miles from Merida there are villages where the people and their mode of living has changed very little through many centuries.

They still speak the Mayan language and cling tenaciously to old traditions. Witch doctors still perform cures with leaves and herbs, take part in weddings, funerals and act as high priest. Their ancestors built the awesome Chichen Itza temples, sophisticated observatories and the great market of a Thousand Pillars that was covered by vines and bright flowers. Here merchants gathered from far away places.

After landing at Guatemala Airport we hired a car and a driver, who turned out to be a college graduate and a most interesting person. We saw many local sights and then drove to Lake Atitlan. This lovely lake is surrounded by high mountains, many of which contain active volcanoes and at night put on a thrilling show. Between the mountains are native villages that are quite unique. Each has its own mayor, customs, religion, dress and produce. In one village all wore skirts, men, women and children, and only their hats designated their status in the community.

All of these things we were to see when we stayed at the Mayan Inn at Chichicastenango. The Inn had been a private home and each room had a wee fireplace, stone floor, hand crafted furniture and flower-filled patio. In the central court marimba musicians played at sundown.

A block away was the most unusual, colorful and amazing market place in all the world. Once a week entire families trudged in on bare feet from miles and miles around carrying whatever they had on their backs. Some had donkeys, a few had horses. They would sell or barter and hope for a bargain. One old woman had a single egg cradled in a red scarf.

On one side of the great square the intensely beautiful Santa Tomas Church, built in 1540 by the Dominican Order, reared high in the air like a huge white bird hovering over its colorful chicks. Pre-Hispanic pagan rites came alive on the terraced steps as the men swung the pungent copal incense burners to and fro while murmuring continuous incantations in strange and mysterious tongues. Inside the huge cavernous room was empty except for ten-foot squares of sand in which burned a myriad of candles. It was as though all the stars had fallen from the smoke-blackened vaulted ceiling far above.

Here the women were humming in soft melodious voices the same mysterious incantations while they lighted the candles and scattered rose petals. Each color asked a special favor. White for peace, yellow for health, red for good crops, pink for happy market day, and if the desired color could not be obtained, white roses were dyed.

At the far end was the traditional Catholic altar. It was banked with flowers and candles and on either side stood a white-robed nun. On the floor directly in front was a marked off square with a single flame burning in the center. On one side a young couple knelt with bowed heads and on the other side stood a witch doctor in all his intricate regalia. From a large leather pouch hanging from his shoulder, he took two tall white candles. These he held over the central flame until they melted together and then placed them in a circle of a smaller candles which represented the families. All the while chanting softly an ancient, unrecorded tune. The Nuns stood quietly by in silent approval. The couple seemed very young but life was short and from their 14 or 15 children, six would live.

In keeping with the "Happiness, Harmony and Helpfulness" theme of the incoming president Mrs. Fuerst installed the officers in an inspiring candlelight ceremony which she commented was a symbol of achievement which indicate welcome and rejoicing. She presented a Federation Woman's Club charm to Mrs. Fuerst as a token of appreciation.

Mrs. Starkenburg was elected to serve on the Club Properties Committee and Mrs. Bruce McAbery will serve as member at large on the same committee.

A delightful tea planned by the capable Mrs. Jack Mallon followed the ceremony. Shades of pink enhanced the beautiful tea table center piece donated by Hortense. The softly draped cloth was designed and fabricated by Mrs. Harlan Lindell, former member. Mrs. Arthur Goodrich donated two cakes elegantly decorated in pink and white with the inscriptions appropriate to the incoming and outgoing presidents.

Mrs. Anyta Doyle provided pink cymbidium corsages for the new officers and Mrs. Edward Verhoef completed the floral arrangements in the foyer.

Among those assisting Mrs. Mallon were Mmes. Lawrence Fry, Jones and Doyle, tea cookies; Doyle and King La Roque and George Blanchard, door committee; James Goodwin, hospitality and Fuerst and William S. Orr, past presidents who poured. MRS. WILLIAM GREENWAY a sports enthusiast

Woman's Club President Is 'Sports' Enthusiast

Mrs. William Greenway (Lu), president of the Woman's Club of Arcadia, has chosen the theme of Happiness, Harmony and Helpfulness as the motto for her year. This is a repeat performance for Mrs. Greenway who served as president in 1966-67.

"Ever since the Woman's Club of Arcadia was organized it has played an important and vital role in the community life and development of Arcadia," Lu said, "And I hope during this year that the club will add to that fine record."

Mrs. Greenway is filled with enthusiasm for the year ahead and she has nothing but praise for her competent board and the interested membership.

She points with pride to her first term as president when the club won the Federation Trophy of the Verdugo-Metropolitan, which is given for outstanding work for federation. There were about 35 federation chairmen that year working on district projects in various fields.

The Art and Pennies for Art (Visual Art) department was organized during that year, and it not only took a state prize for first place but has every year since. Another outstanding department that was stated was Meet the Authors luncheon, which also has become most successful.

Mrs. Greenway intends to promote federation which is one of the objectives of women's clubs.

In addition to the club work, Lu is a very busy lady. She and her husband own the Southern California Door Co. and she is vice president and treasurer. They have two sons, Bill, a graduate of UCLA and USC with a degree in engineering, works for his parents in the sales department, and Jim, a student at the University of California at Irvine.

"There is no generation gap in our family," Mrs.

Greenway said. "Jim and a friend introduced us to skiing two years ago and since then we have had many fun trips together. We find skiing both relaxing and challenging."

"Last year when Jim entered college he started working out with what was to become the "Visit Season" varsity baseball team at the University of California at Irvine. We attended the double header practice game and Jim took over second base spot as freshman, so we naturally couldn't miss any of the games. When the team traveled by bus to the games at the University of Nevada at Las Vegas and Southern Utah State, we were privileged to accompany the team.

"It was three wonderful days with those fine young men and a trip we will never forget. We also accompanied the team to the N.C.R.A. Regional Tournament at Sacramento to which they were invited after having a most successful season to become ninth place in the nation.

Bill received a scholarship in the ROTC program and while at Edwards Air Force Base was in on the modifications of the rocket that went to the moon.

Both boys attended Arcadia schools and graduated from Arcadia High School. Jim was a quarterback on AHS football team and received the Most Outstanding player trophy.

Mrs. Greenway said, "We moved 30 times before coming to Arcadia because Bill was with U.S. Industries and was always being moved around. Bill Jr. pitched the first Little League game in the new ball park the day the mayor dedicated it, and we decided that as long as we had made history we would stay here."

Lu said that it was practically in her wedding vows that she learned to play golf. In the next issue, to be ready for the summer months, she has planned to have the club members meet for a golf tournament. The tournament and their husbands and kids will spend some happy weekends together with their activities.

Club honors past presidents

The Woman's Club of Arcadia honored its past presidents at a meeting held at the clubhouse, Jan. 7. This is an annual occasion when memories of former years are recalled and friendship renewed.

Mrs. William W. Greenway, president, welcomed the guests, who were seated at the head tables — Mmes. Charles W. Stewart, Harry W. Russell, Ray Allen Young, Charles F. Ganther, Bruce G. McAbery, Daniel J. Slatery, Alby R. Foy, Michael Erickson, Harry R.

Lauber and Gilbert R. Starkenburg. President Greenway also qualifies as a member of the group, as she served the club as president three years ago.

Mrs. Henrietta K. Loeffler, American Heritage and Citizenship Chairman, gave a patriotic tribute and led the membership in the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of our Country.

The Inspirational was given by Mrs. Harry W. Russell, past president, who concluded her remarks with a personal code of ethics adopted many years ago — and a brief prayer. With her permission, we pass along the code of ethics — "I'm going to try to live each day, each hour —

With all the force and all the loving power

Which the Creator gives me to apply

I'm going to try.

I'm going to try to feel the life in me—

Is but a gift, which in my custody

Must be accounted for to one on high—

I'm going to try."

President Greenway thanked Mrs. Loeffler for the beautiful table decorations. Mrs. Anyta Doyle for the corsages which she prepared for each distinguished guest, and Mrs. Edward G. Frank, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Following the routine business of the meeting, Mrs. Harry J. Schwarz presented the speaker of the day — R. James Mortimer, a representative of the Diners Fugazy Travel of San Gabriel, who amazed and confused the ladies with his humorous subject — "Some Misconceptions About the English". Mortimer explained that this appearance was his first appearance for a women's organization. He was born in London and moved to Los Angeles in 1961, and is an expert in presenting the eccentricities of the English language and the abuses and incongruities in our language.

Arcadia Woman's Club Rebuffed by Council

An offer of the Arcadia Women's Club to hand ownership of its first building at 324 S. First Ave. to the City of Arcadia in exchange for use of the building five days per month was received by the city council Tuesday with sympathy, but little else.

The council generally felt the city has no probable use for the building and could not assume ownership, costs of maintenance and obligation for a $2,520 outstanding note on the property.

It is the proposal of the Woman's Club, faced with declining membership and inability to meet the continued expense of ownership and maintenance, to sell the building to the city, but with no exchange of funds. Payment to the Women's Club would be amortized

City Balks At Buying Clubhouse

An offer of the Arcadia Woman's Club to hand ownership of its building at 324 S. First Ave. to the city of Arcadia in exchange for use of the building five days per month was received with sympathy by the city council Tuesday, but little else.

The council generally felt the city has no probable use for the building and could not assume ownership, costs of maintenance and obligation for a $2,520 outstanding note on the property.

It is the proposal of the Woman's Club, faced with declining membership and inability to meet the continued expense of ownership and maintenance, to sell the building to the city, but with no exchange of funds. Payment to the Women's Club would be amortized over future years through use of the building by the club as a type of lease, but with no actual payment.

It is clear something must be done to financially help the Woman's Club, Mayor Ed Butterworth said, feeling that if a solution is not found, the Woman's Club will soon dissolve. Yet he noted the city's position, based on studies by various departments, that "we don't want to say no, but we're not in a position to say yes."

In the mayor's view disbandment of the Woman's Club because of declining membership and inability to attract young women would be a "great loss to Arcadia." The club has been a desired asset to Arcadia, he said, adding "even work can be continued if they can meet their financial needs."

LETTERS FROM READERS

Woman's Club property use

Editor, News-Post:

While we were flattered with the amount of publicity we received and its being given a place of importance in various newspapers, we were surprised at its content.

To set the record straight, one of our members, namely, Mrs. Harold Shepherd, vice president, with the approval of our Board of Directors, made an exploratory inquiry to our mayor, Edward Butterworth, regarding the city's possible use of our property. He showed interest and asked Mrs. Shepherd to see Lyman Cozad, city manager, and Robert Ogle, city attorney, and made the appointments for her to do so. It was suggested by the city manager's office that Mrs. Shepherd see the director of recreation, Charles Greenstreet, who requested that a letter be written outlining the initial proposal.

The letter was written and Mrs. Shepherd was notified that Council would consider this matter on Tuesday evening, March 16. The only negative remark heard at this meeting came from Councilman Arth, who apparently felt that this might lead to other organizations in the city offering their facilities for civic use.

It has been brought to our attention repeatedly that the city needs a teen center, and we have observed the need for a central location for various dance and bridge classes, as well as classes in art, music, etc., along with a dependable center where these interests could be pursued.

The only taxpayer money required for the use of this property would be for the maintaining of the property, an expense that could be offset with maintaining part or all of the present rental arrangements, and yet leave time for the above mentioned activities. The purchase price and interest would be amortized through rental of the property to the Woman's Club for specified days of each month. The letter clearly stated that it was a summary of the thoughts and ideas of Mrs. Shepherd, and that details would be subject to negotiation and all public works, states in his report to the city manager that the property is, "in very good condition". We feel that with more responsible, although less sensational, reporting that this information, which had been given to the reporters, would have taken precedent over the mere opinion of Charles Reiman, finance director.

It is definitely not true that The Woman's Club of Arcadia is destitute. Our assets have been conservatively estimated at over $65,000. We are cheerfully and industriously meeting our budget of over $10,000 for the current year.

There has been a decrease of only eleven paid memberships this club year; two by death and two through the awarding of complimentary memberships to past presidents who have moved from the city. Because our organization has been active for almost sixty years we feel that retirement of seven women, most of which resulted from moving from this area, is no shocking loss of membership.

In conclusion may we thank our mayor, city manager and councilmen for their complimentary remarks and their indication that they planned to give the matter further consideration.

Woman's club faces problem

ARCADIA — Plagued with dropping membership, increasing taxes and insurance rates, the Woman's Club of Arcadia appears to be in serious trouble, according to a letter to city councilmen requesting the city buy the property for city use.

The Board of Directors of the organization "feels that with a decreasing membership from more than 300 some years ago to the present membership of 100; with increasing taxes, insurance rates and other expenses, continued operation of the premises by the Woman's Club is no longer economically sound," said Jane R. Shepherd, second vice president of the group.

In an effort to preserve the Woman's Club intact, the city was asked to, in effect, purchase the property and allow the club to meet a minimum of five days per month in it. The suggestion met with a cold response from city officials who could not find justification for the expense of maintaining the property.

The council hates to see the club go, but is not in a position to take it over, according to Mayor Edward L. Butterworth who acknowledged the work the group has done since its founding in 1914.

Starting with only 15 members in 1914, the group opened the first lending library for the city, established the Arcadia Historical Society, the Junior Symphony and the Arcadia Beautiful Commission. They have been a charter organization since 1930, when their current property on south First Avenue was built.

The preliminary offer to the city by the club would, for "a fair price" and interest rate, sell the clubhouse and certain contents to the city with the club holding a trust deed to the property and taking a monthly rent back on an offsetting basis for their five day operations.

Under current operation, the clubhouse now brings in approximately $6,000 a year through rentals Mrs. Shepherd said. There is a balance on the bank loan of approximately $2,520 which would have to be picked up by the city, and is presently being paid at the rate of $95 per month, according to Mrs. Shepherd.

City officials gave their negative reaction to the proposal largely on the basis of reports from city department heads.

According to Charles N. Greenstreet, director of recreation, the transaction would set a precedent with other local groups who own their own property, would require sizable maintenance expense for the city, no street parking is available and the action would jeopardize the construction of the proposed multi-purpose community center and the passage of a bond to finance it with.

Finance Department Director Charles Reiman gave a negative nod on the basis of the age of the building.

"The structure was built in 1931 and most buildings this old and type of construction would collapse if the termites stopped holding hands," he said.

With the council leaving the next move up to the members of the Woman's Club, the matter remained suspended. However, one club member, Mrs. Ernest J. Fuerst, past president wondered if letting a dying body go would not be the best thing.

"Unfortunately, this situation is not a problem just for Arcadia, it is happening to woman's groups all over the country," she said. "It just seems to be a sign of the times."

In her opinion, the group had served its purpose and, in effect, now amounted, for many women, to little more than a modern way-station for passing into bridge groups within the community.

"It most certainly is a status organization and don't you think it isn't," she said. "Other groups such as the Assistance League will be taking its place. In a way, though, I think something better will come out of it."

It was suggested by the city manager's office that Mrs. Shepherd see the director of recreation, Charles Greenstreet, who requested that a letter be written outlining the initial proposal.

The letter was written and Mrs. Shepherd was notified that Council would consider this matter on Tuesday evening, March 16. The only negative remark heard at this meeting came from Councilman Arth, who apparently felt that this might lead to other organizations in the city offering their facilities for civic use.

It has been brought to our attention repeatedly that the city needs a teen center, and we have observed the need for a central location for various dance and bridge classes, as well as classes in art, music, etc., along with a dependable center where these interests could be pursued.

The only taxpayer money required for the use of this property would be for the maintaining of the property, an expense that could be offset with maintaining part or all of the present rental arrangements, and yet leave time for the above mentioned activities. The purchase price and interest would be amortized through rental of the property to the Woman's Club for specified days of each month. The letter clearly stated that it was a summary of the thoughts and ideas of Mrs. Shepherd, and that details would be subject to negotiation and all arrangements subject to the approval of the club membership.

The clubhouse has recently been refurbished and it has been renovated to meet the current safety standards. Chester Howard, director of public works, states in his report to the city manager that the property is, "in very good condition". We feel that with more responsible, although less sensational, reporting that this information, which had been given to the reporters, would have taken precedent over the mere opinion of Charles Reiman, finance director.

It is definitely not true that The Woman's Club of Arcadia is destitute. Our assets have been conservatively estimated at over $65,000. We are cheerfully and industriously meeting our budget of over $10,000 for the current year.

There has been a decrease of only eleven paid memberships this club year; two by death and two through the awarding of complimentary memberships to past presidents who have moved from the city. Because our organization has been active for almost sixty years we feel that retirement of seven women, most of which resulted from moving from this area, is no shocking loss of membership.

In conclusion may we thank our mayor, city manager and councilmen for their complimentary remarks and their indication that they planned to give the matter further consideration.

President,

a joint statement by Robert Campbell, campaign chairman for PLAN (People Looking Ahead Now), and Jack Seclid, chairman of PLAN. The organization opposes the rezoning of 65 acres of Santa Anita land to allow construction of a commercial complex in the heart of Arcadia which will appear on the April 20 ballot in Arcadia.

"Santa Anita's credibility gap is widening as the result of an attack on an informational newspaper sent to Arcadia residents over the weekend," Campbell added.

"They neglected to acknowledge that 'Taxpayers For' is a front organization that Santa Anita had retained past year to get names for the election, one of the things had spent large sums of money for professional opinion polls to show how to capture the majority of its position."

Campbell said, "The informational newspaper is a trend to commercialize over residential areas. It stresses facts, cannot be obscured by lies. Anita Consolidated's attempt to project mythical images, based on what a county hopes will happen, is an attempt to divert attention from a full discussion of the negative aspects of the proposed commercial complex."

"If the zoning is approved it could be a major turning point in the life style of Arcadia. It would bring a minimum of 20,000 more cars a day into residential streets and begin a deterioration of zoning standards that would extend far beyond the boundaries of the track property."

Saelid said "PLAN is organization of Arcadia."

Dear Editor:

While we were flattered with the amount of publicity we received and its being given a place of importance in various newspapers, we were surprised at its content.

To set the record straight, one of our members; namely, Mrs. Harold Shepherd, Vice President, with the approval of our Board of Directors, made an exploratory inquiry to our Mayor, Mr. Edward Butterworth, regarding the city's possible use of our property. He showed interest and asked Mrs. Shepherd to see Mr. Lyman Cozad, City Manager, and Mr. Robert Ogle, City Attorney, and made the appointments for her to do so. It was suggested by the City Manager's Office that Mrs. Shepherd see the Director of Recreation, Mr. Charles Greenstreet, who requested that a letter be written outlining the initial proposal.

The Rt. Hon. Edward L. Butterworth, Mayor
Members of the City Council of Arcadia
Arcadia City Hall
Arcadia, CA 91006

Gentlemen:

Re: Woman's Club of Arcadia

This letter will summarize the thoughts and ideas approved by the Board of the Woman's Club of Arcadia concerning an offer to sell the Clubhouse and property at 324 So. First Avenue to the City of Arcadia.

The idea behind the offer would be to perpetuate the Clubhouse as a meeting place for the members.

All the details of the proposal would be subject to negotiation between the City and the Board of the Woman's Club with final arrangements subject to the vote of the Club membership.

This preliminary offer to the City of Arcadia would be that in exchange for a fair price and interest rate, to be agreed upon, the Clubhouse and certain contents therein would be sold to the City with the Woman's Club holding a Trust Deed to the property and taking a monthly rent back on an offsetting basis (amount of rent to be determined by sale price) from the City for a minimum of five specified days a month.

At no point in the transaction is any money to change hands. The amount of the rent would be amortized over a period of years and offset the payment by the City for the property.

The Clubhouse would become City property, with the City fully free to use the premises as it wished subject to the minimum of five days a month reserved for the Woman's Club members.

Under our present operation, the Clubhouse brings in approximately $6000.00 a year through rentals. There is a balance on the bank loan of approximately $2520.20 which would have to be picked up by the City. It is presently being paid at the rate of $95.00 a month.

There is no other indebtedness on the property.

The Board feels that with a decreasing membership from over 300 some years ago to the present figure of 129; with increasing taxes, insurance rates and other expenses, continued operation of the premises by the Woman's Club is no longer economically sound.

Memorandum

March 12, 1971

Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council
Arcadia, California

Re: Proposal for City to purchase Women's Club property

Gentlemen:

We attach again the letter from the Women's Club concerning the sale of their Clubhouse at 324 South First Avenue to the City.

I am also attaching reports on this proposal from the three department heads most immediately concerned.

The Council will recall that the parking lot on the south side of Diamond is not included in this proposal. Therefore, the property is without parking.

Summarizing the staff recommendations, we suggest that the City not purchase the property because of its limited usefulness and the continuing expenses which its purchase would place on the taxpayers.

Respectfully submitted,

LYMAN H. COZAD
City Manager
